

FROM THE EUROPEAN ENERGY COMMUNITY TO THE ENERGY UNION

20 MAI 2015 • 17h30 > 19h30

Hôtel de l'Industrie, 4 place Saint Germain des Prés, 75006 Paris

The current promotion the Energy Union as a priority for the European Union foreshadows a decisive breakthrough which now has to be concretised.

This conference will allow different majors stakeholders and policy makers to discuss the future of the European energetic sector.

In particular, the Jacques Delors Institute will present its recent report and propositions about the Energy Union, and notably how to break off with short-termism and insularity, how to develop determined actions for a long term European energetic transition project, and how to revise the European energetic policy in the short term. This report is available on our website.

Following this presentation, a debate will take place between major stakeholders on these themes, who will be able to discuss these analyses and propositions.

Welcoming speech

- Olivier MOUSSON, President, Société d'encouragement pour l'industrie nationale

Opening speech

- Pascal LAMY, President Emeritus, Jacques Delors Institute

Report presentation – From the European Energy Community to the Energy Union

- Sami ANDOURA, Senior research fellow, Jacques Delors Institute
- Jean-Arnold VINOIS, Adviser, Jacques Delors Institute

Stakeholders' interventions and reactions – From the European Energy Community to the Energy Union

- Harlem DESIR, Secretary of State for European affairs
- Gérard MESTRALLET, PDG, ENGIE
- Gerassimos THOMAS, Director General Energy, European Commission

Debate presided by Pascal LAMY, President Emeritus, Jacques Delors Institute

Reception

Mandatory registration