

Agatha Kratz

Editor in Chief, China Analysis, Asia Centre

Agatha Kratz is currently Editor in Chief of China Analysis and research fellow for Asia Centre. She has co-authored several academic articles with François Godement, on the subject of Chinese investment in Europe and economic relations between China and Europe.

She graduated from the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE) and Columbia University (SIPA) in Public Administration, with a strong focus on Southeast Asia and China. Agatha Kratz also graduated from Sciences Po Paris, where she received a master's degree in Finance and strategy. In the third year of Sciences Po, Agatha Kratz chose to go to Beijing to study Chinese for one year. She has been studying the language since 2004.

In 2012, she completed a course of six months for the Rhodium Group in New York with Daniel Rosen and Thilo Hanemann, on the subject of industrial subsidies to Chinese enterprises, including solar panels and energy industries sector. That same year, she carried out a mission of Council for the National Innovation Fund of Kazakhstan, a branch of the Ministry of industry and new technologies of the

Agatha Kratz

Editor in Chief, China Analysis, Asia Centre

Kazakhstan, on the subject of the promotion of the Venture Capital industry in the country. On this occasion, she conducted two weeks of fieldwork in Almaty and Astana. Prior to this, Agatha has worked for 2 years in Private Equity in North Africa (in Swicorp - Intaj and Emerging Capital Partners), in the areas of consumer products, and financial services.

Bibliographie

Agatha Kratz , "How can the EU promote its economic interests with China?", Policy Paper, Paris, Institut Jacques Delors, 12/03/2013

Diego Valiante , Dimitris Katsikas , Federico Steinberg , Filippa Chatzistavrou , John Springford , Jonas Parello Plesner , Pawel Swieboda , Yiannis Tirkides , Daniela Schwarzer , Agatha Kratz , "Promoting EU economic interests abroad", Policy Paper, Paris, Institut Jacques Delors, 12/03/2013