

Sarah Bennaceur

Former online communication trainee (from August 2016 to March 2017)

Sarah Bennaceur was an online communication trainee from August 1, 2016 to March 31, 2017. She also punctually worked on logistics and information retrieval tasks to support the Head of communication and media relations and thanks to it had a general glimpse of the universe of the media.

Following her studies at Université catholique de Louvain with a focus on communication, she graduated in European studies. varied tasks. She finalised a research paper treating the impact of EU-Tunisian relations on the Tunisian political changes. She started working within the Trade marketing department of Tunisiana (Ooredoo), the telecommunications market leader in Tunisia. At UNESCO, with her team she took the roll of advocates for projects, amplifying visibility throughout the targeted countries, while also being responsible for monitoring progress and reporting to sponsors. As an Executive Assistant at Cisco Systems, she helped in coordinating the communication strategy and other events as regards the technical services's department activities. She joined the Institute in August 2016.